

Geht doch!

Ökumenischer Pilgerweg
für Klimagerechtigkeit

Let's walk together on the path of justice to the World Climate Conference in Paris

from the town
Alt-Muehlendorf to
the Arch Warde
on 19th September 2015

Saturday, 19th September 2015

As representatives of more than 30 partner churches worldwide, we shall walk together on the path of justice, in this case specifically of climate justice. This is a one-and-only opportunity since we do not only work for the same goal of justice in different parts of the world but can physically go on a pilgrimage together: from Alt-Muehlendorf to the "Arch Warder" (ca. 4 km on foot).

This route is part of the International Ecumenical Pilgrimage for Climate Justice from Flensburg (close to the Northern German border with Denmark) to Paris. Sparked by the Ecumenical Council of Churches, a broad alliance of regional Protestant churches, Catholic dioceses, mission departments, development organisations, and youth alliances invites civil society in Germany and other countries to join this pilgrimage. And we will certainly join in!
